WASHINGTON

is our campus

Our academic boundaries are not limited by quadrangle walls, but extend to encompass the capital city itself. It is identified with our endeavors and ambitions. Our tempo of life is paced by the varied activity of the city. This capital of the world becomes our classroom, laboratory, museum, library, stadium, and playhouse.

Herewith, then, are the individuals, environment, and events which pattern our existence and make up our school . . . community . . . universe.

CLOYD HECK MARVIN
President of the University

President Marvin is honored at a reception commemorating his twenty-fifth year as president of the University.

This year marks the 25th anniversary of Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin as President of the George Washington University. President Marvin is a prominent educator, admired and respected by students and faculty, alike. During his administration the University has expanded and flourished in all respects. Throughout the year the schools of the University have sponsored a series of receptions honoring Doctor Marvin as our President, adviser, friend.

ENGINEERS COUNCIL

Engineers met their new Dean, Dr. Mason, at the first Engineers' Mixer. At Christmas they lighted the University's tree while the Glee Club caroled. In the spring they celebrated semester's end at the annual Banquet and Ball. They read their six issues of MECHLECIV from letterpress cover to cover. Several joint meetings of all societies were held when they could hear a speaker of general professional interest. The careful planning made all this possible.

SIGMA TAU

Sigma Tau is the national honorary engineering fraternity. Its members must be in the upper third of the Engineering School, meet character requirements, and show promise of future success in the engineering field.

A Barn Dance on November 24, drew members, alumni, pledges, and dates for a good workout. Later, the Society initiated nine men and celebrated with a banquet and dance at the Lee House.

"Best Friend of Charleston," the first locomotive to be placed in regular service on any American railroad, and the first to haul a train of cars, is a far cry from the engines that G.W.'s engineers are learning to run.

MECHELECIV

The MECHLECIV is the publication of the Engineering School under the direction of the Engineers' Council. Six copies appear during each school year and are soon found in the homes of all Engineers. The University requires each Engineer to pay for the magazine on Registration Day.

Editor Chuck Plyer and staff gave full coverage of all Engineering School activities, plus articles on current innovations in the many branches of Engineering. Even some humor creeps in, for instance, the article describing the "Turbo-Encabulator," brilliant new contribution to industrial science.

Since its start as a mimeographed sheet in 1941, the MECHLECIV has become an attractive bright-covered magazine.

Dick Caldwell, Warren Chestnutt, Emmett DeAvies, Bill Noble, Ed Hughes, Ed McGandy, Tom Flanagan, Jim Simpson and Editors Al Moe and Chuck Plyer work around the desk to send another MECHLECIV to press.

A. S. M. E.

The American Society of Mechanical Engineers, met monthly in the Hall of Government. Most meetings were centered around speakers from their own field of engineering, but once they heard Charles Tompkins, Washington contractor. Activities included inspection tours of power plants and laboratories, such as the jet engine lab at Annapolis. Coca Cola and sweet cider served after meetings gave good chances for discussions of the evening's topics.

The George Washington branch of the Institute of Radio Engineers serves as listening and discussion group for engineering students in general and in particular for those studying communications. Programs at the monthly meetings bring speakers on radio and electronic innovations. Field trips give students opportunity to see offices in which they may some day work: television stations, recording studios and electronic institutes.

A. S. C. E.

In its monthly meetings, this student branch of the American Society of Civil Engineers had speakers who discussed photogrammetry, city planning, cartography and related engineering topics. At Christmas time they performed their annual duty of cutting down the tree destined to decorate Lisner Terrace for the holidays.

Highlight of the year was the Regional Conference in the spring. The George Washington chapter served as hosts to Maryland, Catholic, Johns Hopkins and Howard University branches. Two days of talks, field trips and discussions were climaxed with a formal banquet.

THETA TAU

The professional engineering fraternity, Theta Tau, requires that its members be in the Engineering School and that they be invited to join by the brothers.

Theta Tau had a varied year, including a Shrimp Feast, a picnic and initiation with Banquet and Dance. One of the few professional fraternities participating in Intramural Sports, it defended its Bowling Championship of 1951 with a good team for 1952.

Prominent members of the fraternity included Chuck Plyer, second time MECHELCIV Editor, and Al Moe, long term Engineer student and president of this year's Engineers' Council.

First Row: P. J. Caffes, R. C. Baumann, L. E. Finch, W. A. Wooldridge. Second Row: W. R. German (treasurer), E. P. Davitt (vice-regent), E. R. Caldwell (regent), R. F. Julius (scribe), J. C. Second Row: J. Colangelo, D. Rodgers, M. Hurd, R. Rodgers, J. Onafra, A. Moe, M. Mitchell, R. Kursch, J. Karley, Jr.

At their monthly meetings, the George Washington branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers heard guest speakers, saw an occasional movie, and planned many outside activities. They initiated special noon meetings with well-informed speakers. They went to a conference in Philadelphia, visited the Alexandria power plant, and inspected several large companies located between Washington and New York.

At the Annual Dinner with the Washington section of the A. I. E. E., GW members became acquainted and talked with leaders in their field.

PURPOSE AND OBJECTIVES OF PROGRAM:

- a. The purpose of the AF ROTC program is to constitute the principal source of junior officers for the Reserve Forces of the United States Air Force, and a major source for the Regular Air Force.
- b. The specific objectives of the program are:
 - 1) To develop by precept, example, and student participation the attributes of character, personality, and leadership which are indispensable to every officer of the Air Force.

SECTION "F"—Kneeling: Guidon Bearer, M. B. Rosenblatt; J. R. Matthews. First Row: R. W. Miller, G. Bement, I. W. Fitzwater, S. W. Mooney, G. W. Egan, I. P. Campbell, J. T. San Agustin. Second Row: D. H. Freas, J. W. Howard, E.

- 2) To develop an interest in the Air Force, and an understanding of its organization, missions, problems, and techniques.
- 3) To provide the student with a balanced course of officer development and officer-career training, both theoretical and practical, which in conjunction with his academic curriculum will qualify him to discharge all duties and responsibilities which may be required of him as a junior officer of any component of the Air Force, without further formal schooling.

THE 1951 FOOTBALL TEAM

1951 FOOTBALL

This season marked George Washington's definite graduation into big-time football. After four full seasons under Bo Rowland, the team has at last come of age, and while the results were not surprising, at least the boys from G Street can say they've played the best. Although Coach Rowland and the University have come in for severe criticism, they persisted in the program of athletic expansion begun several years ago. Kentucky, upset victor over last year's national champions, Oklahoma (in the Sugar Bowl), were signed to a three-year contract. The local rivalries with Maryland and Virginia were continued and the Southern slate also included Georgia and Wake Forest. No one can say with accuracy how well this fling at the big show will turn out, but at least Colonial rooters will get a look at top-flight elevens from every part of the country. Two big attractions will be missing from the stage next season, Georgetown and Andy Davis. Neither will be forgotten soon.

"BO" SHERMAN

MIKE MONCHOLOVICH
Trainer

Kenny Belliveau nails his man the hard way as Shiver and Semkew hurry on over. Tom Flyzik follows the Virginia ballcarrier.

GW 0 GEORGIA 33

In their first invasion of the big-time football ranks, the game Colonials couldn't muster any offense and were completely outclassed by a big, deep Bulldog team. Fumbles and penalties helped Georgia to their first two scores as the Buff backs couldn't hold the slippery ball. After blocking a Georgia punt on the two, GW booted away its chance for a consolation score to make the game a total washout. Bright spots were Davis' quick-kicking and the running of Soph Kenny Belliveau, along with the brilliant defensive play of tackle Tom Flyzik.

GW 0 VIRGINIA 20

The score gives no indication of the really close game given the Cavaliers. The statistics showed a tie in total offense and only a 16-14 edge in first downs for Virginia; but the Rowlandmen couldn't find their scoring punch in four chances, three times inside the five. It was a bitter defeat for the great defensive line, coupled with the loss of Bob Gutt via an injured arm. The breaks all went the other way as Virginia scored twice on fumbles, once on a poor Buff kick. Ends Dave Shiver and Jim England continued their spirited play on defense.

GW 6 MARYLAND 33

For three periods the Terrapins had things all their own way, and even the most loyal GW fans began to wonder if it weren't time to de-emphasize; but when little Bino Barriera scooted around end to draw the Colonials' first 1951 blood, they rocked Byrd Stadium with their approval. The Buffmen never really had any chance against a great Maryland team that went on to whip Georgia, 43 to 7, two weeks later. The score was no fluke, though, coming against the Terps' first-string line. Dave Waldron set it up by recovering a fumble at the ten, and from there Bino did the rest. Other standouts for GW were Bob Cilento, Frank Continetti, Freshman Richie Gaskell and of course, Andy D.

GW 38 VPI 13

Stepping out of fast company for the first time all season, the revenge-minded Colonials really poured it on. Davis shone offensively, scoring three touchdowns himself and generating 200 yards running and passing. The other scores came on a six-yard effort by Barriera, a ten-yard dash by the ever-improving Ken Belliveau, and a ten-yard smash in the last period by Ray Fox. Carl Bodolus stepped out of character to boot the last extra point after Freshman Jack Daly had hit for one in five. The marching of Davis, Belliveau and Barriera was greatly helped by good line play, and offensively by Bill Shaw and Ray Fox.

Lou Ciarocca gets set to stop the Maryland runner as Continetti and Shiver give chase.

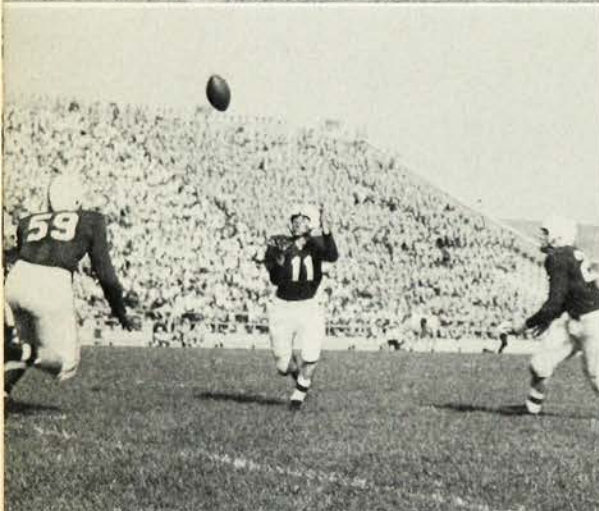

GW 13

WAKE FOREST 27

Leading 13-0 at the half, the Buffmen came close to pulling a major upset. The Deacons were completely bottled up by an aroused defensive line for two quarters, but in the third frame shook their receivers loose to keep the form book from being a liar. Barrera scored both GW tallies and kept in the Southern Conference scoring race; Steve Korcheck, playing in his first game all year, showed why he's called the finest line prospect in many years, supported by stalwarts Kojoyian, Gutt, Perkins and Semkew. This was the heart-breaker of the year, ruining GW's homecoming as well as its hopes for national recognition.

GW 19

It was GW's turn to be upset, in what amounted to a moral victory for the second-class Purple Hurricane. The Buffmen seemed worn out by their Wake Forrest effort, allowing Gene Pedrick to pass without interference. The game could have even been a defeat without the spirited play of Joe Kennelly behind the line. Davis and Barrera again accounted for most of the offensive power, assisted by Jimmy England. England scored on a pass only to have the play nullified and keep the tie. With South Carolina turning in an upset over favored Clemson, the stage was set for next week's drama.

Dave Shiver leads the way for Andy against VPI.

Bino Barrera scores through the Wake Forest line. Interested spectators are Reilly and Yednock.

GW 20

SOUTH CAROLINA 14

Finally living up to their promise as a spoiler, the Colonials turned loose a devastating Davis-to-Barriera pass combination to surprise the Gamecocks. With a 14-14 tie in the last minute of play, it remained for Bob Cilento to put the lid on it. Unable to put Bino across, Bob tossed one to Baumgardner from the one. Andy had a good day in the yards-gained department with 261, while Tom Flyzik performed for the pro scouts. Scoring honors went to Baumgardner, but the real hero was Johnny Yednock, who hustled the last play into action just in time.

KENTUCKY 47

Completely outclassed on the ground and in the air, the G-Streeters gave Kentucky only one bad moment in a one-sided afternoon at Lexington. At one point in the second period, Kentucky led by only 20-6 after a Davis-to-Baumgardner pass, with GW threatening again. But it never came any closer, with Babe Parilli's passes filling the air. Andy Davis kept up the pace, gaining 175 yards and drawing ever closer to Justice's all-time offensive record. Also in the act were Kenny Belliveau, Bob Cilento, Bill Neal, and Bino.

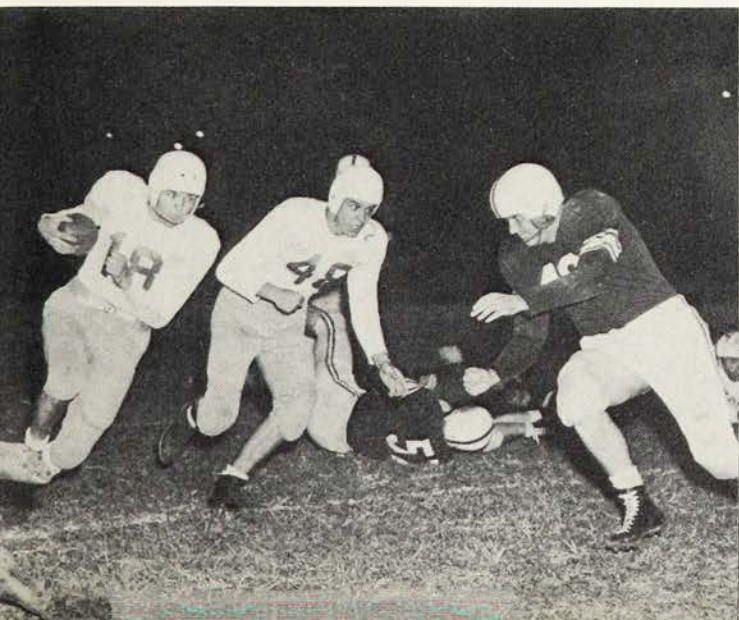

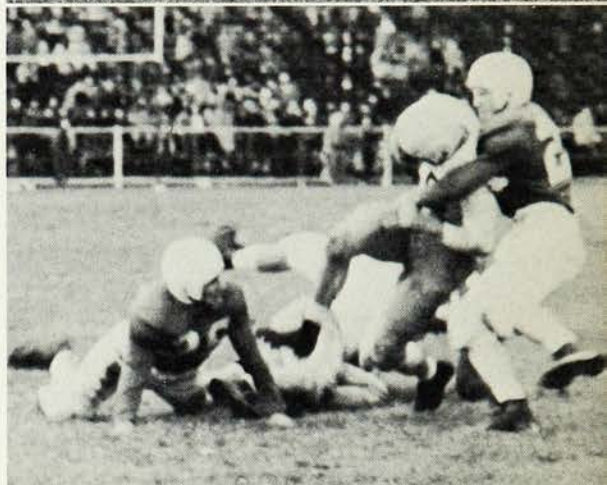

The boys from Furman swarm all over Andy.

Andy Davis receives a trophy from the Athletic Director, Max Farrington, on the occasion of his last appearance in a GW uniform. In the background Mrs. Davis and Andy's teammates look on. The night, November 30, was declared "Andy Davis Night," and GW fans were not disappointed as Davis ran off his 5,002nd yard as a Southern Conference player. The mark set a new Conference record—a true memorial to GW'S greatest player in many years.

It was a disappointing finale that saw the Buffmen upset by a poor Richmond team. Only in the second half did the GW line come to life and show its strength. The offensive power was generated by Andy Davis, who set a new total-yards-gained Conference record by garnering 230. This brought Andy's four-year record total to 5002 and put him far ahead of Justice's old 4871 mark, a glittering finish to the career of perhaps GW's greatest player of all time. Also playing their last games were Dave Shiver, the outstanding man-of-all-work; Bob Cilento, last year's standout passer; Art Kojoyian, a rugged guard; Tom Reilly, who switched to end from his usual halfback role; Lou Ciarrocca, a strong man both on offense and defense; Joe Kennelly, sparkplug linebacker; Bill Shaw, speedy wing-back; and Johnny Yednock, a brick wall at center. It was also disclosed that Andy Davis had been named to the second-string All-Conference team together with Frank Continetti, while Bino Barriera made the third team.

Tennis

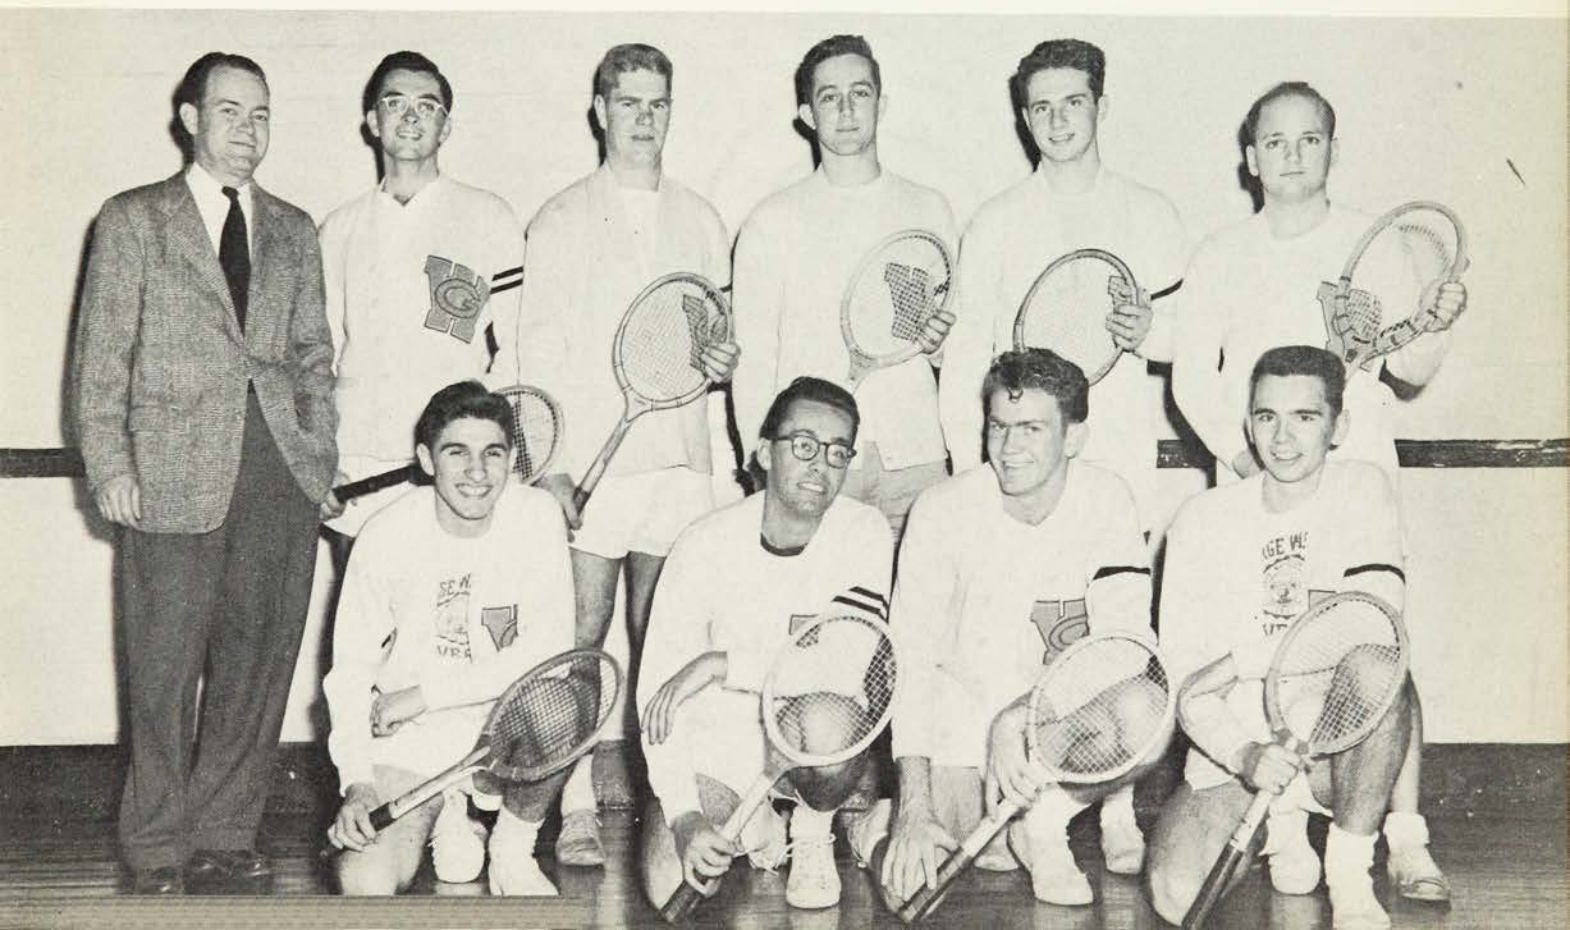

George Washington's varsity tennis squad ran up a record of twelve wins and four defeats last spring to become the best Colonial team in postwar years. Especially pleasing to local fans were two 5-4 wins over Georgetown, coming in the middle of an 8-2 home stand. The second match was a real Ozark Ike affair, with the Buff coming from behind a 4-1 Hoya lead to cop the win. On the road, the G-Streeters had a 4-2 record against six South Carolina schools in a southern tournament. Coach Bill Shreve is hopeful of bigger and better things next spring.

Intramural

Intramural Sports at GW provide a chance for all students to participate in outdoor recreation. A wide variety of sixteen sports, including everything from fencing to wrestling, offer something for everyone. Joe Krupa, now in his twelfth year at the University, hopes to expand the program even further and to include, eventually, every male student.

Joe is ably assisted in his administration by student directors Joe Kennelly and Sam Portwine, and by Interfraternity Athletic Director Jerry Golin. Awards are made for all sports, and an Intramural Trophy for total points is awarded every spring. Last year's kudo went to Delta Tau Delta Fraternity, while Sandy Schlemmer of the same club took individual honors.

The objectives of the program are, briefly, to provide social contacts for the students; to develop group spirit, scholarship, and sportsmanship; and to promote better health in both mind and body.

(Top) Buddy Wolfe, Phi Alpha, grabs a handful of air as Cy Potter, AEPi, totes the leather. In the background is Jerry Chatlin, and the referee is Kenny Kern.

(Middle) Sandy Schlemmer, Delta Tau Delta, imitates a shotputter. He's really waiting for the ball, in case you wondered.

Bud Laubscher, Sigma Nu, goes wide around a gang of Theta Delta Chis including (center background) Sam Portwine.

Joe Inzinna, Phi Sigma Kappa, prepares to shoot. Jay Howard of Delta Tau Delta has other ideas.

Corky Devlin displays perfect form in an intramural Uline preliminary. Charlie Goldberg and Ken Belliveau await the result.

Dave Shiver and Norm West cross swords at the Tin Tabernacle. Andy Davis, Ken Belliveau, and John Caldwell fill out the picture.

Machine-like precision in shooting is the goal of all good archers. Classes are held along the banks of the Potomac against a backdrop of the Lincoln Memorial and the Washington Monument.

Women's Sports

Archery and tennis are sports which interest most of the women because they can be played by both men and women on an equal basis all through life. Special buses take the classes to the field and the courts. In addition to class instructions, competition is available within the University and with other colleges.

Students are put into beginning, intermediate, and advanced classes according to their individual skill. Instruction is given twice a week but there is still plenty of time to practice or just play with friends.

Hockey calls for an alertness and a keen sense of timing. Here a George Washington student attempts to tackle the ball from one of the Marjorie Webster girls.

"Keep your eye on the birdie" is the motto of many a badminton player. This together with a snap of the wrist will make any smash hard to return.

Yes, they do look cold. Toward the end of the season the wind gets a trifle chilly but regardless, they pile onto the bus and go to class.

Hockey is one of the most invigorating team sports offered at George Washington. The girls become proficient enough to play outside teams such as Maryland University, American University, and Marjorie Webster, who come over during class period. An honorary varsity team is chosen at the end of the season from the girls who have played especially well during the games.

The badminton classes are scheduled twice a week during the winter season. Beginners are told how while the intermediates and advanced players may try to prove that "practice makes perfect" in this strategic and fast-moving sport. Competition in badminton, challenging both the men and women, consists of doubles, mixed doubles and singles.

Basketball is taught during the winter season with games between classes and with outside schools. From the class teams are chosen the girls who play the interscholastic games, and from these the honorary varsity who represent the best players in the school. The varsity as a team plays one game with the alumnae.

Golf is very definitely not an old man's game at George Washington. It is very popular with the women during the fall and spring seasons. The classes use the driving range, putting green and golf course at Hains Point. Beginners and Intermediate tournaments for individuals, women's twosomes, and mixed twosomes are held.

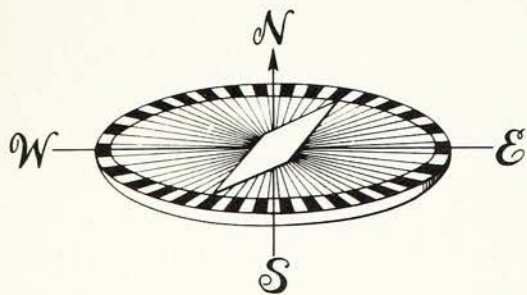

Basketball seems to be the favorite sport for the girls during the winter. Practice in conditioning and ball handling can never be overemphasized to those girls who have had previous basketball experience.

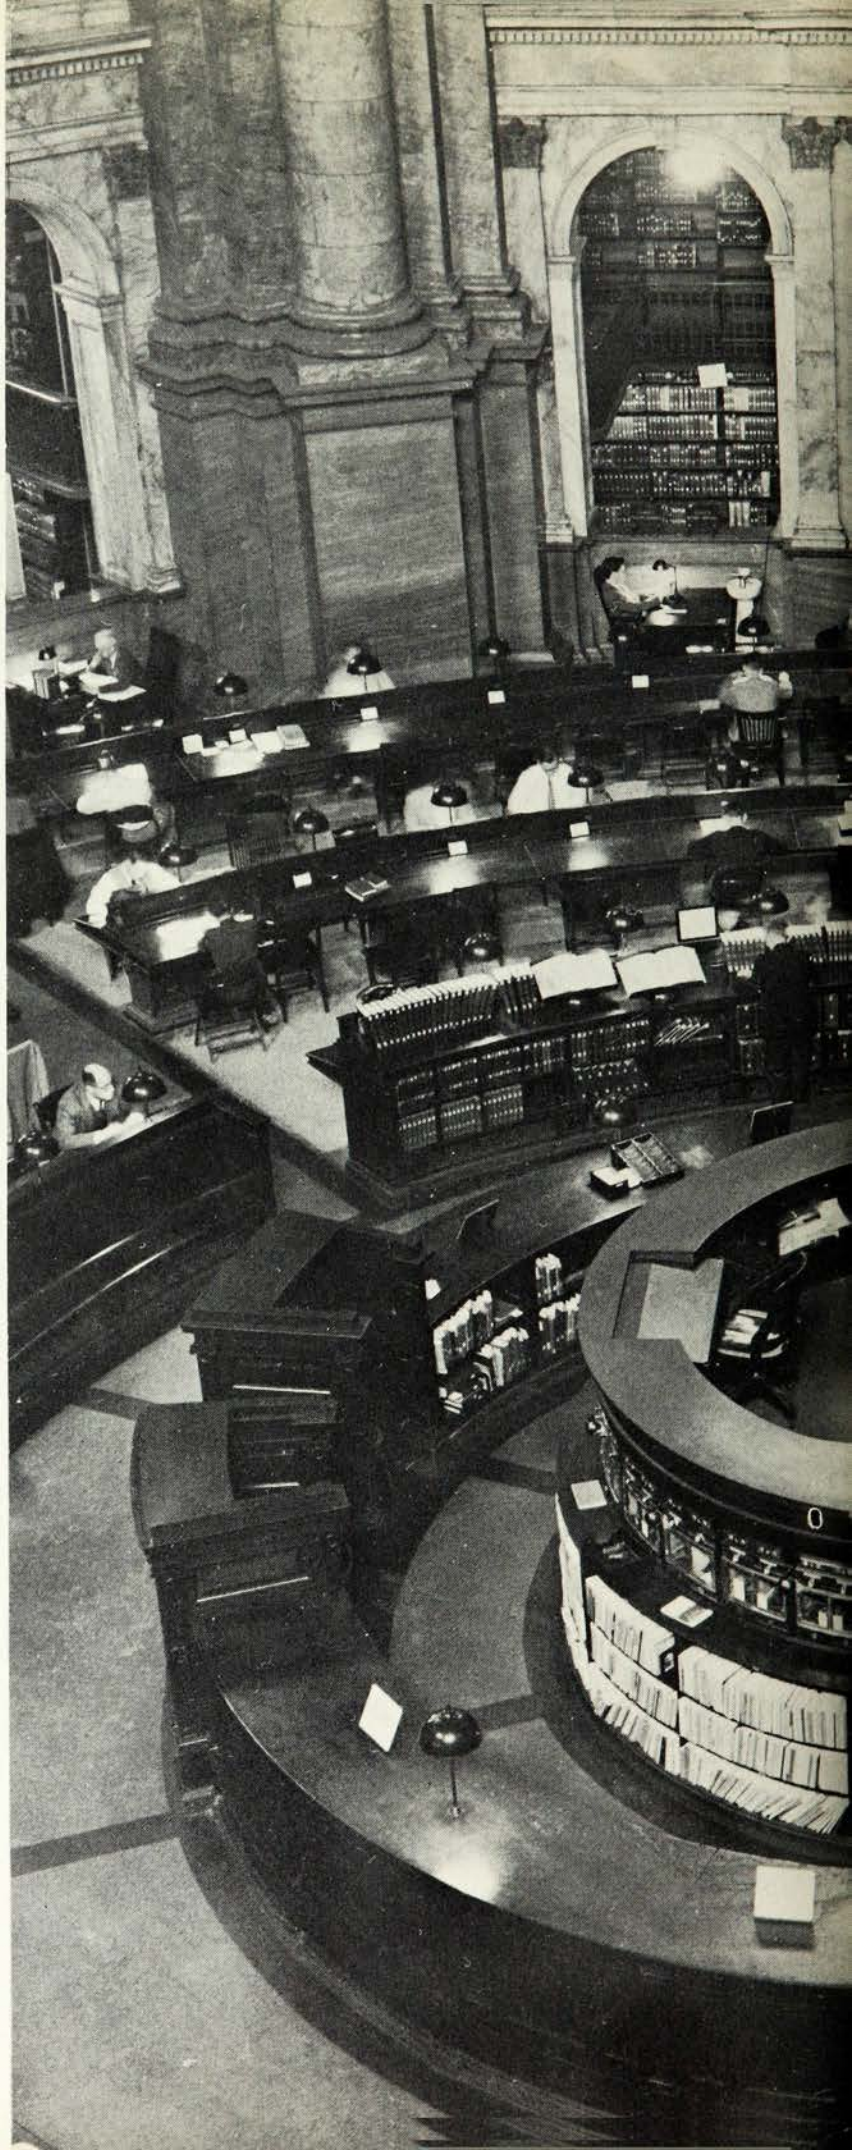

Four beginners get instruction on where and how to place the right hand in relation to the club and the left hand. The driving range is convenient for learning and practice before the actual game.

WHO'S WHO IN AMERICAN

Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities is an annual publication that gives recognition to the outstanding students in more than six hundred of the nation's colleges. The George Washington University is well represented in the 1951-1952 edition as thirty-two of her students were elected to receive this national honor.

The students are chosen for character, scholarship, leadership in extracurricular activities, and the possibility of future success in business and society.

Pi Lambda Theta

Election to Pi Lambda Theta means scholastic recognition for graduate and undergraduate women in the field of education.

This year's theme was Education and Freedom illustrated by a panel on religious education in schools and a talk by Dr. Burnice Jarman on techniques of propaganda. The twelfth Ruediger Lecture came in the Spring.

Mortar Board-sponsored Tassels is an honorary for Sophomore women whose freshman records show them to be interested in both studies and activities. Together the girls are better able to continue these interests.

The group's big project was an "orientation" program for part-time women students to familiarize them with G. W.'s activities and facilities.

Members of the Mortar Board wrestle with scissors and glue in preparation for their annual Smarty Party.

Mortar Board

Mortar Board is the national senior women's honorary. Its members are elected by the Mortar Board of the previous year on the basis of scholarship and leadership qualities in University activities.

Before the school year started they canvassed the neighborhood for ads for the CHERY TREE, selling more than 1200 dollars worth. The Information Booth set up jointly with Omicron Delta Kappa helped confused registration-day newcomers on their way.

Early in the Fall they held the Women Leaders' Conference. Campus leaders discussed parliamentary procedure, ways to make foreign students feel more at ease, how to build up school spirit, how to bring about closer student-faculty relations, and many more topics. They entertained junior and senior women with 3.5 averages or above at the Smarty Party. These many activities plus sponsoring Tassels and helping to set up the Career Conference filled up a busy and successful year.

Morris, C. Plyer, L. Kirsten, J. Voneiff, C. Walthers, D. Faith, R. Benson, L. Embrey, C. Cole, J. VanStory, J. Krupa.

Omicron Delta Kappa

The purposes of Omicron Delta Kappa are to recognize outstanding leadership in scholarship, social and religious activities, athletics, publications, music, debate and dramatics, and to render service to the University.

The major achievement since the last issue of the CHERRY TREE is the adoption of a new method of selecting student membership to insure a better distribution and representation in the organization.

Other projects in process are a survey of the student activity program at this University to ascertain in what ways it may be improved, and planning for the erection of an ODK monument on the campus.

Delphi

Delphi was founded to give recognition to outstanding sorority women on campus. Members are nominated by their own sorority and then elected by Delphi from these nominations. Tapping occurs at the annual Panhellenic Sing.

In the Spring Delphi's sorority workshop presented panels on the many ways it is possible for sororities to contribute to the University, ways of creating interest in extra-curricular activities and worthwhile philanthropic work for sororities.

Barbara Benner, Betsey Goldsmith, Gayle Greenwood, Ramona Samples, and Mickey King work together planning the Delphi Workshop.

First Row: R. Yalom, B. Benner (secretary), M. Johnson (president), N. Dilli (treasurer), B. Goldsmith. Second Row:

S. Bruton, R. Samples, J. Rosenberger, G. Greenwood, P. Moore, A. Hudgins, M. King, A. Oliver, M. Chipman, G. Haran.

A graduate women's fraternity that works to further the status of graduate women socially and professionally and raise standards of graduate study, Phi Delta Gamma has drawn members from many fields and professions.

The theme for the year was "New Horizons for Women" and to illustrate this they heard speakers telling of women in architecture, the United Nations, other international organizations and similar fields into which women do not commonly enter. As a side line the group took toys to Bill Herson's Doll House at Christmas time. Fall rush teas bring in new members annually from the graduate and faculty women of G. W.

Old and new members meet again at a fall formal tea.

Post mortems are held on last week's edition.

Pi Delta Epsilon

Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary fraternity in journalism, celebrated its thirtieth year on the GW campus with a series of activities culminating in the big Anniversary Banquet in April. Present at the banquet were national leaders in the realm of collegiate and professional journalism, officials of the University, and guest PiDE's from neighboring universities.

Earlier in the year the fraternity sponsored its first "Etaoin Shrdlu," a campus get-acquainted session for all students interested in the fourth estate. Once again Pi Delta Epsilon took part in the annual Career Conference in sponsoring the panel on journalism and public relations.

GW Pi Delts, themselves members, or former members of campus publications, look forward to continued service to college journalism at the University with an optimism based upon the experience of thirty years.

Officers make plans for the semester's activities.

Pi Gamma Mu

Under the terms of its chapter Pi Gamma Mu has undertaken the task of encouraging the study of the social sciences by stimulating such interest among graduates and undergraduate students, and faculty members in colleges and universities throughout the world. The privilege of membership in this Society is granted to those who have shown unusual interest and aptitude in the study of such sciences.

During the past school year persons prominent in the field of social science addressed a series of regular all University meetings. Topics of current interest were also discussed in other informal meetings. The delegation from the Beta Chapter played an important role in the proceedings of the National Convention of Pi Gamma Mu. The convention was held at Washington in June, 1951.

First Row: Hull, Antonelli, Inzinna, Gindoff, Kerish, Golin, Clement, Cummings, Barron, Deck. Second Row: Beach (treasurer), Benson (vice president), Barish (president), Bloch (secretary), Generelly (national president), Dorish. Fourth Row: Scharrow, Estes, Hennessy, Perry, Reagan, Bruffey, Cunn, Goldberg, Carvellas, Kyne, Caulfield, Buzzell, Lindner.

Edie Harper is aided by Joe Barish in donning the Order of the Lacy Garter.

Gate and Key Society is The George Washington University's honorary for men who have been outstanding in their service to their fraternity and the fraternity system as a whole. Members are nominated by Gate and Key and tapped at the I. F. C. Prom in the Spring.

G. W.'s chapter is the original one and last year was the founder of a chapter at Maryland University. At present plans are going ahead for chapters at Penn State and William and Mary.

The annual award of the Order of the Lacy Garter was presented to Miss Edie Harper for her service to the University and to the fraternities.

Gate and Key

First Row: L. Loehler (secretary), E. Brandenburger (president), E. Sincoff (treasurer). Second Row: N. Weaver, F. Zigmond, J. Smith, P. Reynolds, M. Estes, B. Teeter, D. Haas, M. Albert.

Cleary, J. Moffett, F. Zigmond, D. Urich.

Alpha Lambda Delta

Alpha Lambda Delta is the honorary for women who attain a 3.5 average in the freshman year.

Each year the chapter selects a few projects that it believes will help the University to run more smoothly. Some projects of the year, in addition to the Annual Welcoming Tea for new scholarship holders, were constant cleaning and straightening of bulletin boards and a look into a plan for teaching evaluation of the University's faculty, a project helpful to both faculty and professors.

All who have received scholarships from the University may be members of Alpha Theta Nu. Started as a meeting ground for the University's many scholarship holders, it has developed into a helpful student organization.

In their meetings in Woodhull House members planned to hold a tea for new scholarship holders, to help out on the Blood Donation Booth, to put pencil sharpeners around the school and to usher at plays and other Lisner events.

Alpha Theta Nu

Psi Chi

Psi Chi is an honorary and professional fraternity for psychology students. Their purpose is not only to stimulate interest in psychology but also to increase participation in research in their field.

The organization gives financial and personal assistance to actively aid those carrying out psychological projects.

As well as business meetings and a schedule of lectures, there were social events of great interest. Their sponsorship of the annual initiation and banquet made it a big success and helped members meet national leaders in psychology.

Alpha Pi Epsilon is the home economics sorority for those having a 3.0 average in that department.

Fall began with the annual Founder's Day banquet. Speakers were invited to the regular meetings to talk of generals and particulars of home making throughout the world.

At Christmas they celebrated with a party bringing gifts for the Florence Crittendon Home. A Bake Sale and then off to the annual Home Economics Convention completed a busy year.

This year's Council was an enterprising group who were able to complete many large projects by close-knit cooperation with each other.

The STUDENT HANDBOOK appeared for the first time unsubsidized by the University and free to the students. Editors Nancy Dilli and George Buckmaster made this possible by a large advertising sales campaign.

In December a campaign for Blood Donors was met with amazingly high student interest. One the first of two collection days a capacity number was processed. The blood unit returned in February to finish its job.

Perhaps the most important single project undertaken was the establishment of a plan to insure better student representation behind future councils.

These were the highlights of a year well planned and executed by a capable group.

Panhellenic Council

The Panhellenic Council is a central board of delegates from all of G.W.'s social sororities. Much of the credit for the cooperative spirit and good feeling among this University's sorority groups must go to the Panhellenic Council.

Every Monday at noon members dash up the stairs of the Student Union Annex to the Conference Room to plan together the Panhellenic Prom and Sing, Rushing programs, and the awarding of four scholarships to senior sorority women with the highest scholastic average. Such projects and more carry out their purpose of bringing girls of many groups together to work as a unit.

Interfraternity Council

The interfraternity Council is a board of representatives from each of the fraternities whose chief purpose is to be an administrative body for interfraternity activities. The Council established rules for rush season and sponsored the Fraternity Sing and Prom.

An active example of the spirit they try always to promote was Greek Week. This was a week in March when the fraternities took turns holding Open House while all "Greeks" visited each other.

The Council also directs the use of the athletic insurance fund which they have built up through benefit functions.

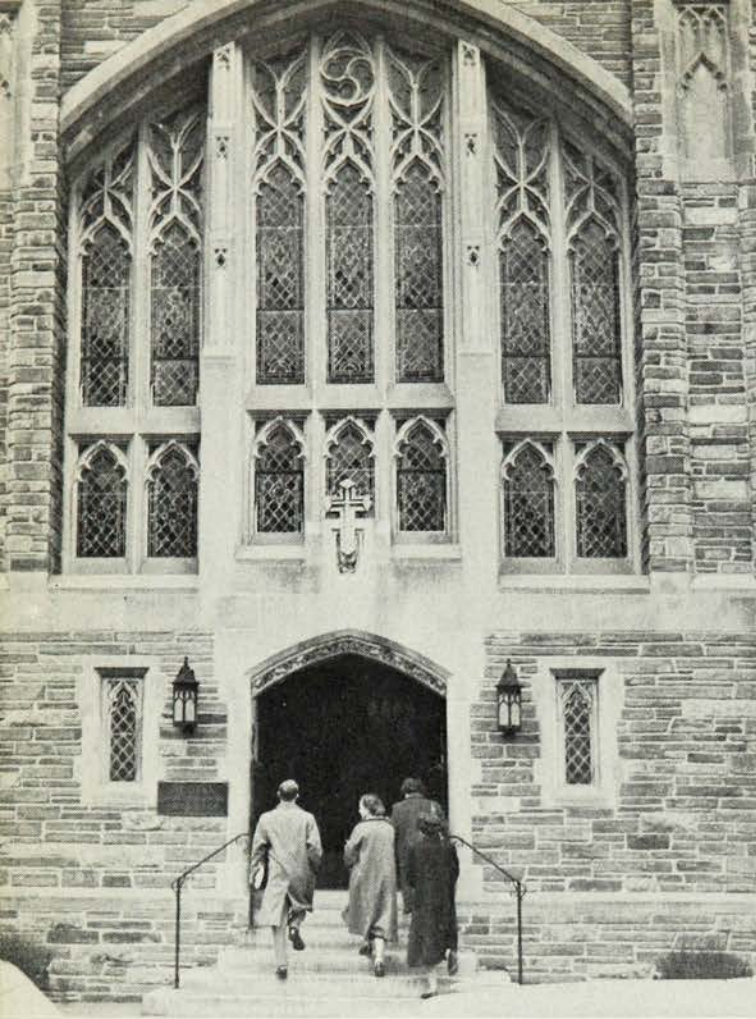

Bob Bloch, Sigma Chi, and Warren Hull, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, grin proudly after last year's Interfraternity Sing as they hold the First and Second Place Cups. Warren was also chosen best director in the Sing.

THE UNIVERSITY CHAPEL.

Religious Council

The Religious Council is composed of representatives from all religious organizations on campus in order to further religious activities.

A reception during Registration for new students told of these religious activities. The council continued the sponsoring of the weekly Chapel at the Western Church. Two Coffee hours were organized with the theme, "Religion in Western Civilization." Dr. Davison spoke on "Religion in History" and Dr. Meijer told of Religion's place in Science.

The biggest undertaking was the Religion in Life Week in March.

Included in the program was a panel discussion by Chaplains from the various branches of the Armed Services in Lisner Auditorium. Fraternities and sororities were also visited by well informed speakers.

Officers of The Student Bar Association: N. Peterson (vice president), R. Kauffman (secretary), H. Perez (president), R. Richardson (vice president), E. Shugart (treasurer).

Student Bar Association

The Preamble of the Constitution of the Student Bar Association reads:

"Its purposes are to further scholastic attainments, to develop a spirit of brotherhood among members, and to enhance the reputation of the Law School at The George Washington University."

For the first time the Student Bar Association actively initiated an indoctrination program for the freshman class which helped them to register, introduced them to the library aided by the Law Review Staff and arranged a welcoming address by the Dean of the School.

Nation-wide approval resulted from the practice of reading of one Canon of Legal Ethics at each meeting.

Films were shown to the students on English criminal justice, trial by jury, and the Nuremburg trials. Later a tour was conducted through all of the District's law courts.

Professor J. P. Burke (faculty adviser), J. Walsh (publicity chairman), D. Moore (chairman), members of the Book Collection Committee, examine one of their excellent collection of law books.

viser). Second Row: P. Robbins, P. Harryman, A. Hains, P. Moore, M. Freeman, M. Wiley, B. Bicknell, E. McNally, S. Maguire.

Women's Recreation Association

The Women's Recreation Association creates an active interest in women's athletics by providing a varied program of athletic activities that has made the campus sports-conscious and has helped to promote leadership.

The Women's Activity Building Fund was brought back to life and the fund grew by means of such money raising campaigns as the G. W. night at the Arena theatre. Orange ice served at the intermission gave the whole occasion a party air.

As a member of the National Association the group conferred with other collegiate members at Hood College in the Fall. Tournaments in many sports were run with Conference members and with other Washington Colleges also.

INTERSORORITY ATHLETIC BOARD

The Intersorority Athletic Board is made up of one representative from each of G.W.'s sororities. They work to further good relations among sororities by way of competition in girls' sports.

Nine different contests were held during the year, such as ping pong, swimming, tennis and bridge with cups awarded for each sport and a large rotating cup awarded to the sorority winning or placing in the greatest number of contests.

A training ground for pledges in intersorority relations, Junior Panhellenic serves its purpose well.

Pledges worked together to plan the Goat Show and a Tea Dance for fraternity pledges. The Tea Dance on Strong Hall Roof brought many students together to make more acquaintances in the University. The Goat Show had its usual huge success. This year's theme "Who? What? When? and Where?" gave room for plenty of variety and the different pledge classes picked the cleverest plots they could think of. Admission was $.25 and a toy, which was donated to Bill Herson's Doll House.

Production on the 1952 CHERRY TREE began early last summer. The staff worked throughout the vacation months designing and laying-out the book, and collecting page space contracts, while Mortar Board solicited ads.

Major General Ulysses S. Grant, III, again undertook the onerous task of adviser to the book. We deeply appreciate his interest and active efforts on behalf of the book.

A January 12 deadline kept staff noses hard to typewriter and dummy book. It was not with some little relief that we rushed the Finis page to the printer—then counted the many weeks till April delivery.

THE UNIVERSITY

The University Hatchet continued this year as always to play an important and influential part in student life at G. W.

Along with a thorough coverage of campus news were printed the "campaigns" for which the Staff is famous. Voicing the opinions of as many sides as possible on issues such as increased and better student faculty relationships, the importance of sororities and fraternities, more student representatives on the Publications Committee and many more, the Editors kept up the Hatchet's reputation as a fair-minded and well run college newspaper.

A new feature of the year was a classified ad section for student use.

And Staff members continued their eternal query—"Why do we always leave this stuff until 3 A. M. Monday morning?"

LAW REVIEW

The George Washington Law Review is the law school's quarterly publication. Its contents are always of great interest to law students, for it covers recent cases of importance in the Supreme Court and other federal courts, and also discusses many other current legal problems.

The magazine helps students to keep up with what is actually going on in the profession they are studying to enter. By giving full and accurate coverage of many important events the publication has become widely read among the University's law students. An energetic and enterprising staff should be widely applauded for their hard work and consequent success.

The Dance Production Groups under the direction of Elizabeth Burtner highlighted an active year with a modern dance concert given in March at Lisner Auditorium.

Shouts of "yipee" and "swing your podner" echoed throughout Building "J" during their regular square and folk dances on Thursday evenings.

The presentation of high school programs, television shows and their collaboration with the Drama Department for the production of "Green Grow the Lilacs" kept the sixty-five members busy furthering dance as art and recreation on the campus.

GLEE CLUB

CLOSE HARMONY.

The Glee Club is rapidly becoming very popular at school because of their singing. However, they also strive to inspire singing and fellowship among the members. The Glee Club did their part for defense this year when they sent 27 of their members, aptly called "The Traveling Troubadors," to Reyjavik, Iceland, to entertain the soldiers as well as the civilian population. The group was accompanied by the Club advisor and his wife.

Here in the district the Glee Club presented shows for the soldiers at Ft. Meade, Ft. Myer, Bambridge, Forest Glen, also singing at a convention at the Hotel Statler.

One of the highlights of this season was their annual concert at Lisner Auditorium. Blending in with the Christmas Spirit, they sang during Christmas with the "Messiah" heading the program.

Sailing Association

The purpose of the Sailing Association is to promote better seamanship, greater appreciation for sailing as a recreation and a sport, and to engage in intercollegiate competition.

As a member of the Intercollegiate Yacht Racing Association, the Sailing Association can make long trips to other colleges to find competitors. This club also boasts a membership in the Potomac River Sailing Association. In addition to their more strenuous activities, these sailors find plenty of time for socializing. Bi-monthly party meetings are held. A highlight of the year is the Annual Frostbite Regatta with Maryland and Georgetown. After the regatta, club members, guests, and students attend the Frostbite Ball. A cup is awarded to the team winning the regatta.

COLONIAL BOOSTERS

This was Colonial Booster's first year since its reorganization in the Spring of 1951, as a board of eight members.

Keeping in mind its purpose of coordinating and directing school spirit, the Board planned a new method of distributing tickets to Booster members, bought brand-new costumes for George and Martha, and gave out yellow and blue pom-poms at the Homecoming Game. Cavalcades were organized for the trip to the Virginia, Maryland, and VPI games. The biggest event was the train cavalcade to Kentucky.

Big Sis

Big Sis originated as a way to give new women a welcome and a helping hand. Through much trial and few errors this big job is now handled with increasing efficiency.

The Big Sisses attended a Workshop in the Spring to orient them for their job of the coming Fall. Most important part of this was the panel discussion on what a Big Sis should be to her own Little Sis and how she could help her.

Each Big Sis was given the names of several new students and during the summer she wrote them and tried to meet them. Before classes began there was a Coffee Hour in the Student Union where everyone got to meet their classmates-to-be. Within the first week of classes, Tips and Tea with Topnotchers gave hints to the new students on how and what to do in activities.

Strong Hall

Strong Hall Council is a governing body composed of one girl representing each floor. The dual aim of the Council is to review complaints and suggestions from the girls and to unify the dorm and try to make its atmosphere more friendly and home-like.

A new idea this year was monthly teas for all girls. These were held on Friday afternoon and were enjoyed as times set aside out of busy days to get together and talk to old friends and to make new acquaintances.

The traditional Christmas Party was the means of collecting many toys that were later given to under-privileged children.

During the second semester everyone cleaned and decorated feverishly for the Open House. Later awards were given to the girls who had prepared the prettiest single and double rooms.

The purpose of the Case Club is to teach its members the practical uses of appellate procedure, brief writing and oral argument.

This year was a very successful year in the Case Club's history with a larger number than ever actually competing. The preliminary level competitions were finished in the Fall semester and the interesting semifinals and finals were held in the spring.

The Case Club has been carefully organized into a worthwhile opportunity for practical application of classroom knowledge. Proof of this is the great interest shown by law students in Case Club activities.

Phi Alpha Delta

Phi Alpha Delta is a professional fraternity for law school students. As a professional fraternity Phi Alpha Delta has a broad program for service to the law school. Alumni were helped with legal aid by some of the club's seniors. When this club wasn't busy helping student and school around campus, they were engaged in a broad plan which called for improving and bettering a member's legal background. Many opportunities for contact with prominent lawyers in Washington were afforded student members. The fraternity calendar saw luncheons at the Lotus, Rushing, Initiation, and an Election pass by in the course of their very interesting year.

Delta Theta Phi

Delta Theta Phi is a professional fraternity for law school students. Its members are the hard-working law students who will be the lawyers of tomorrow. Hard work, however, is not their sole appetite. There is plenty of time left after studies for a little socializing. A Fall Barbecue Outing in Virginia was so successful that members decided to have a dance. The Fall dance was held at the Wardman Park Hotel; it, too, was very successful. The annual Founder's Day Banquet and dance were held at the Shoreham later in the year. Bent on more than just good times, they worked towards an Interfraternity Council for Law Fraternities. It was a fine year for Delta Theta Phi, one marked by service, social life, and hard work.

Phi Delta Phi is one of the oldest legal fraternities in the country. It was founded at the University of Michigan in December, 1869. Some 37,000 brothers throughout the United States and Canada are pledged to the promotion of high standards of professional ethics and culture in the law schools and the profession at large, and the fostering of fraternal spirit among the members of the profession.

At the professional meetings held this year, there were many outstanding judiciary, and prominent members of the legal profession at large. The chapter or "Inn" as it is called by the Phi Delta Phi's took active part in their professional meetings.

A fine series of banquets, picnics and dances helped wind up the Phi Delta Phi social year. A good hard-working fraternity, they offered much in the way of worthwhile service to their law school.

Physical Education

A program of clinics, meetings, and social functions has made the Physical Education Majors' Club an up-and-coming group on campus.

A professional library is being built up by contributions from alumni and will be located in Building "H." An award was initiated for an outstanding contributor to G.W.'s athletic program. An executive from the National Education Association spoke several times on job placement, major clubs, and the effects of the recent football scandals.

Phi Delta Delta

Besides being a woman's legal fraternity, Phi Delta Delta has the distinction of being international with chapters in Holland and Mexico. The members, who must be students in the law school, are chosen on the basis of scholarship and character.

This year's program included a banquet, luncheons, and informal teas. At these functions there were addresses by faculty members of the law school. Phi Delta Delta also carried out several projects which benefitted the law school.

Alpha Zeta Omega

Alpha Zeta Omega is a professional pharmaceutical fraternity with members who are both students and alumni. The fraternity keeps itself informed on trends in pharmacy and tries to benefit its members by forming social contacts with professional pharmacists.

A convention in November was the scene of discussion of the new Squibb-Alpha Zeta Omega plan by which members of the fraternity promote the sale of Squibb products. Awards were given for the best displays and selling campaigns. Proceeds equipped a hospital in Israel.

The Washington chapter started a newspaper for pharmacists throughout the city this year with the help of the student branch. A number of speakers gave added interest to the regular business meetings. As the year ended members found they had accomplished their hope of building new interest in this worthwhile organization.

Alpha Chi Sigma

Alpha Chi Sigma is a professional chemical fraternity. It is open to any male student who has completed one and a half years of chemistry and who has a very great interest in this field, probably considering it to be his life's work. There is a minimum scholastic requirement of a 2.5 average.

The society had two projects this year. One was the conducting of a chemistry test for the Washington Area High School seniors with a prize awarded for the best paper. The other was the maintenance of the fraternity's plaque on the third floor of Corcoran Hall.

Putting theory into practice.

Delta Phi Epsilon

Adviser, Dean Koenig, and members at the regular yearly banquet.

Delta Phi Epsilon is a foreign affairs professional fraternity for men. It was founded to provide a broader outlook in the field of foreign affairs and to bring together students who have similar interests in this field.

At their fraternity house on 22nd street, members gathered to hear such notables as John Gonnella, the noted Scottish journalist, on Pakistan, or Mohammed Zammir Ahmed, Egyptian Vice Consul, who spoke on the Egyptian Oil Crisis.

The chapter took an active part in the Career Conference with the World Government Seminar in planning the foreign affairs forum.

A joint meeting was held with the Georgetown University chapter which is one of the nine active chapters of this organization. The members of Phi Delta Epsilon are chosen on the basis of interest in foreign affairs, scholastic achievement and advancement in the university. No student with less than forty-five hours and one semester at the University may become a member.

Columbian Women

The Columbian Women have built up funds for scholarships and for scholarship students. They also work on many school projects to further the interests of the University.

The requirements for membership in Columbian Women are in general:

Any registered woman student with one year of college work.

Any woman faculty member of the University.

This year the organization held four meetings each being followed by a social hour, during which the members had a chance to get better acquainted with each other. There are many members in Columbian Women and the work which they have done in the past year has been a great help in building the University to its present condition.

Canterbury Club

Spring meetings adjourn to Rock Creek Park.

Although Canterbury Club is a religious body composed largely of Episcopalians, all University students are invited to attend their meetings. The Library of St. John's Church was the scene for many meetings where members first listened to speakers and then socialized. During the Fall they planned a supper for Ft. Belvoir soldiers that was followed by an entertaining program. Through the whole year Reverend Raymond Barnes guided their collegiate interest in religion.

Open House heralds the new social season.

Newman Club

The Newman Club is a forward looking religious group made up of Catholic students. Every year this club plans a wide and varied program of entertainment, campus activity and religious work.

A well-planned program of religious activities included lectures of collegiate interest, business meetings, a daily rosary group, and frequent socials with similar groups in neighboring colleges such as the joint dance with the University of Maryland Club. They participated with the other religious clubs on campus in planning and carrying out the Religion in Life Week.

The annual Campus Celebrity Capers was as popular a dance as ever and ended a busy year.

Wesley Foundation

The Wesley Foundation is The George Washington University's branch of a world-wide organization for Methodist young people. The main purpose of the organization is to help students to increase their Christian activities.

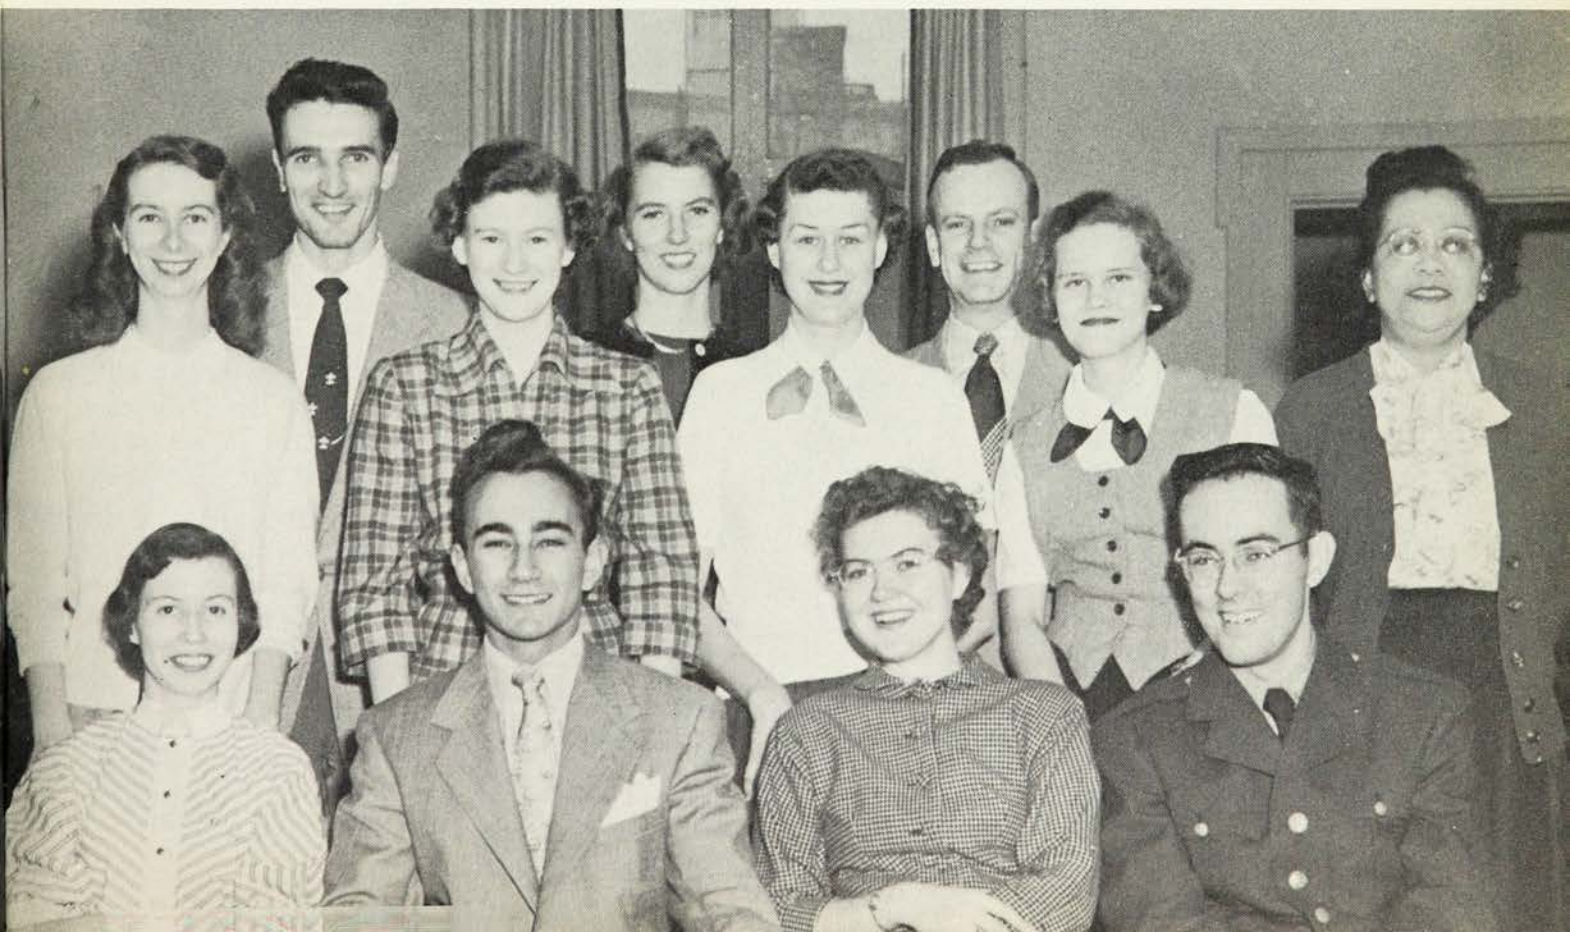

Members particularly enjoyed the monthly suppers prepared for them by different women's societies of the Methodist Churches in this area. Their interest in Bible study, prayer and Christian fellowship made Dean Elmer Kayser's lecture to them on the New Testament a big success.

Cooperation with the Student Council in the Clothes for Korea Drive was a project that was suited to their objectives.

Westminster Foundation

SPRING RETREAT.

The fellowship of Westminster Foundation has brought many Presbyterian students together. Weekly meetings are the scenes of lectures, thoughtful discussions, and social hours where the discussions continue.

All the members look forward to the two yearly "retreats." They are held in Chopawamsic Park along with the Presbyterian group from the University of Maryland.

Activities were planned to continue into the summer with beach parties to the Chesapeake Beaches as real highlights. The leaders of the group make these plans with the well-founded belief that Christian fellowship can be enjoyable and still have participants remember the serious purpose of the group. Constant success applauds this idea.

Christian Science

Keeping in mind its original reason for organization, the Christian Science Club has planned its weekly meetings to be held as church services. The purpose of the group is to promote orderly growth in the study of Christian Science, so much more successful when done together.

The annual reception for new members was held in November. In the spring several speakers were invited as part of an interesting lecture program.

Hillel Foundation

The Hillel Foundation was organized to bring Jewish students together, with the realization that their common interests would result in a worthwhile as well as an enjoyable group.

This year's activities included Coffee Hours, classes in Hebrew, movies, lectures, and discussion groups. When Sid Caesar and Ed Fischer were visiting the University in the fall, they gave a special show for Hillel members. The group's athletic program brought members into Intramural competitions. New this year were public affairs forums, a choral group, and Friday Night Socials.

Alpha

Kappa Psi

Alpha Kappa Psi is a professional fraternity for students of business administration, accounting, economics and related fields. Its purpose is to further the welfare of the individual members, to increase their interest, and to promote and demand in universities courses for degrees in business administration.

Besides holding many interesting meetings, the group cooperated with S. A. M. to conduct the forum on business administration for the Career Conference.

First Row: S. Bruton (treasurer), W. Stachura (president), M. Martin (vice president), G. Greenwood (secretary). Second Row: L. Gallagher, A. Daniels, E. Pinching, P. Heart, R. Tolson, K. Graf, V. Taylor, S. Seabring, S. Coultrap, M. King.

Art Club

The Art Club was organized to further student interest in art and it has shown itself to be one of the most "livewire" groups on Campus.

Main event of the year was the Annual Spring Art Show held in the Library, that included water colors and oils, in both commercial and fine art styles.

The Club repaired old toys for Bill Herson's Doll House and painted scenery for Green Grow the Lilacs. They toured local Art Exhibits and made money by painting posters to advertise the Career Conference and other campus activities.

Masonic Club

Members of the Masonic Club are Masons who are also students at the George Washington University. They work together on projects of a fraternal, social or charitable nature.

Speakers at the four annual meetings included Dean Koenig and the Grand Master of the Washington Lodge of Masons. The organization sponsored the Cherry Blossom Sale at the time of the annual Festival. The money went toward scholarships to universities throughout the country.

Home Economics

A group of home economics majors meet regularly to make use of the practical arts they have learned in class. The club's members keep active during the year planning a Bake Sale, Membership Tea, and Christmas Party for children at Gallinger Hospital. Social meetings with guest speakers and work in knitting and crafts groups keep interest in the club at a high level. This year's major project was to raise enough money to pay part fare to send a representative to the American Home Economics Association Convention in June.

Alpha Phi Omega

G. W.'s chapter of Alpha Phi Omega must be one of the country's most active and is greatly appreciated on this campus, particularly for its ready mimeographing service. Members are ex-Boy Scouts who like to see unnecessary difficulties done away with. They help with class elections, usher at school functions, are working on redecorating the fourth floor of the Union, sponsor a local scout troop, and work on many other projects. These projects are successful attempts to be of service to their school and to their community.

Speech correction majors bring classroom theory into actual practice. Meeting regularly they present a variety of programs featuring addresses by prominent speech professors and leaders in the field. A series of movies made on the spot in military rehabilitation hospitals proved most interesting this year.

El Club Espanol

El Club Espanol is a group of University students with a common interest—the Spanish language.

In both business and social gatherings the members discuss Spanish and Latin-American cultures and practice up on their Spanish.

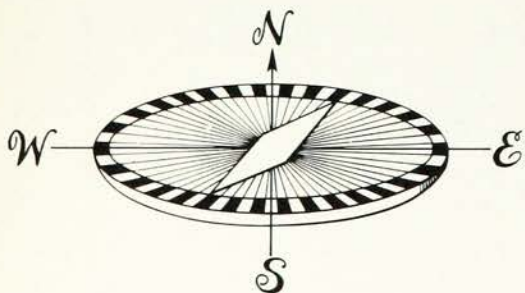

This is an organization that truly fulfills its purpose of being an enjoyable yet educational extra-curricular activity.

World Government

Interested primarily in the study of international relations, the World Government Club carries out an organized program for studying relevant problems.

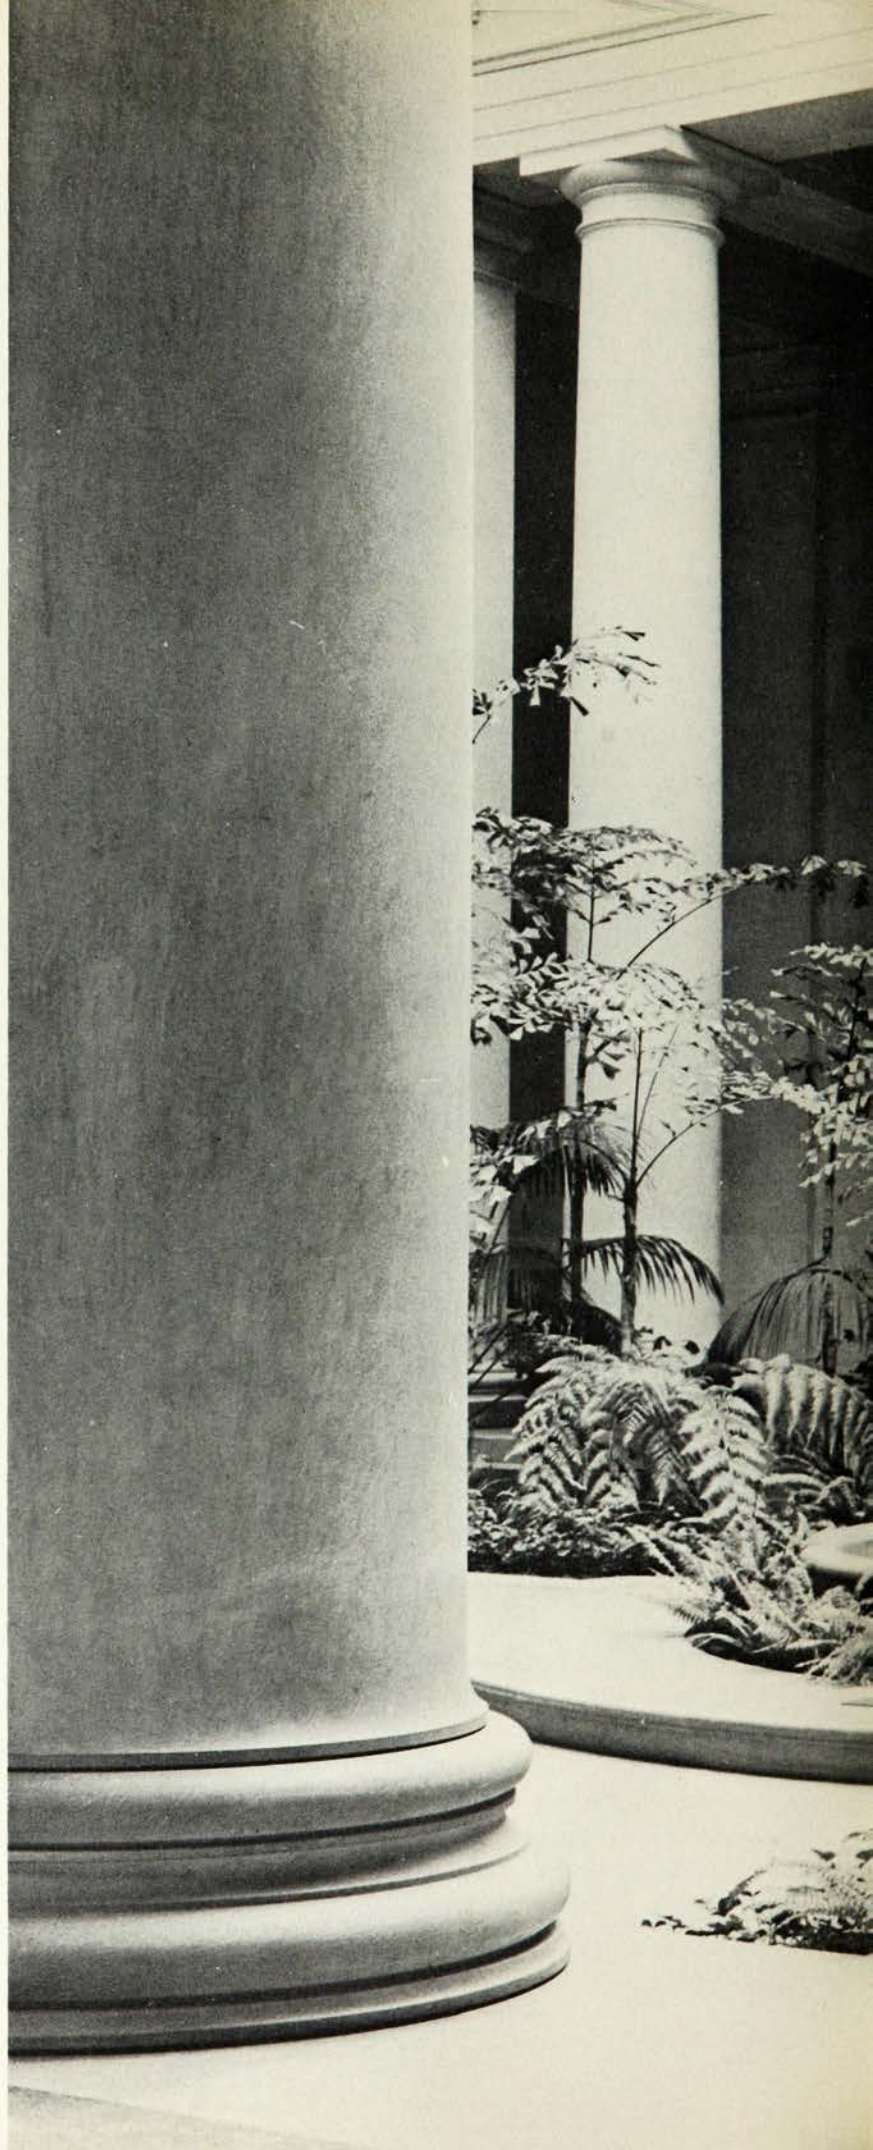

On United Nations Day Dr. Kraus spoke on its progress. With a group from American University they held a model Atlantic Union Convention. In the spring they cooperated with Delta Phi Epsilon to organize the foreign affairs and political science forum of the Career Conference.

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

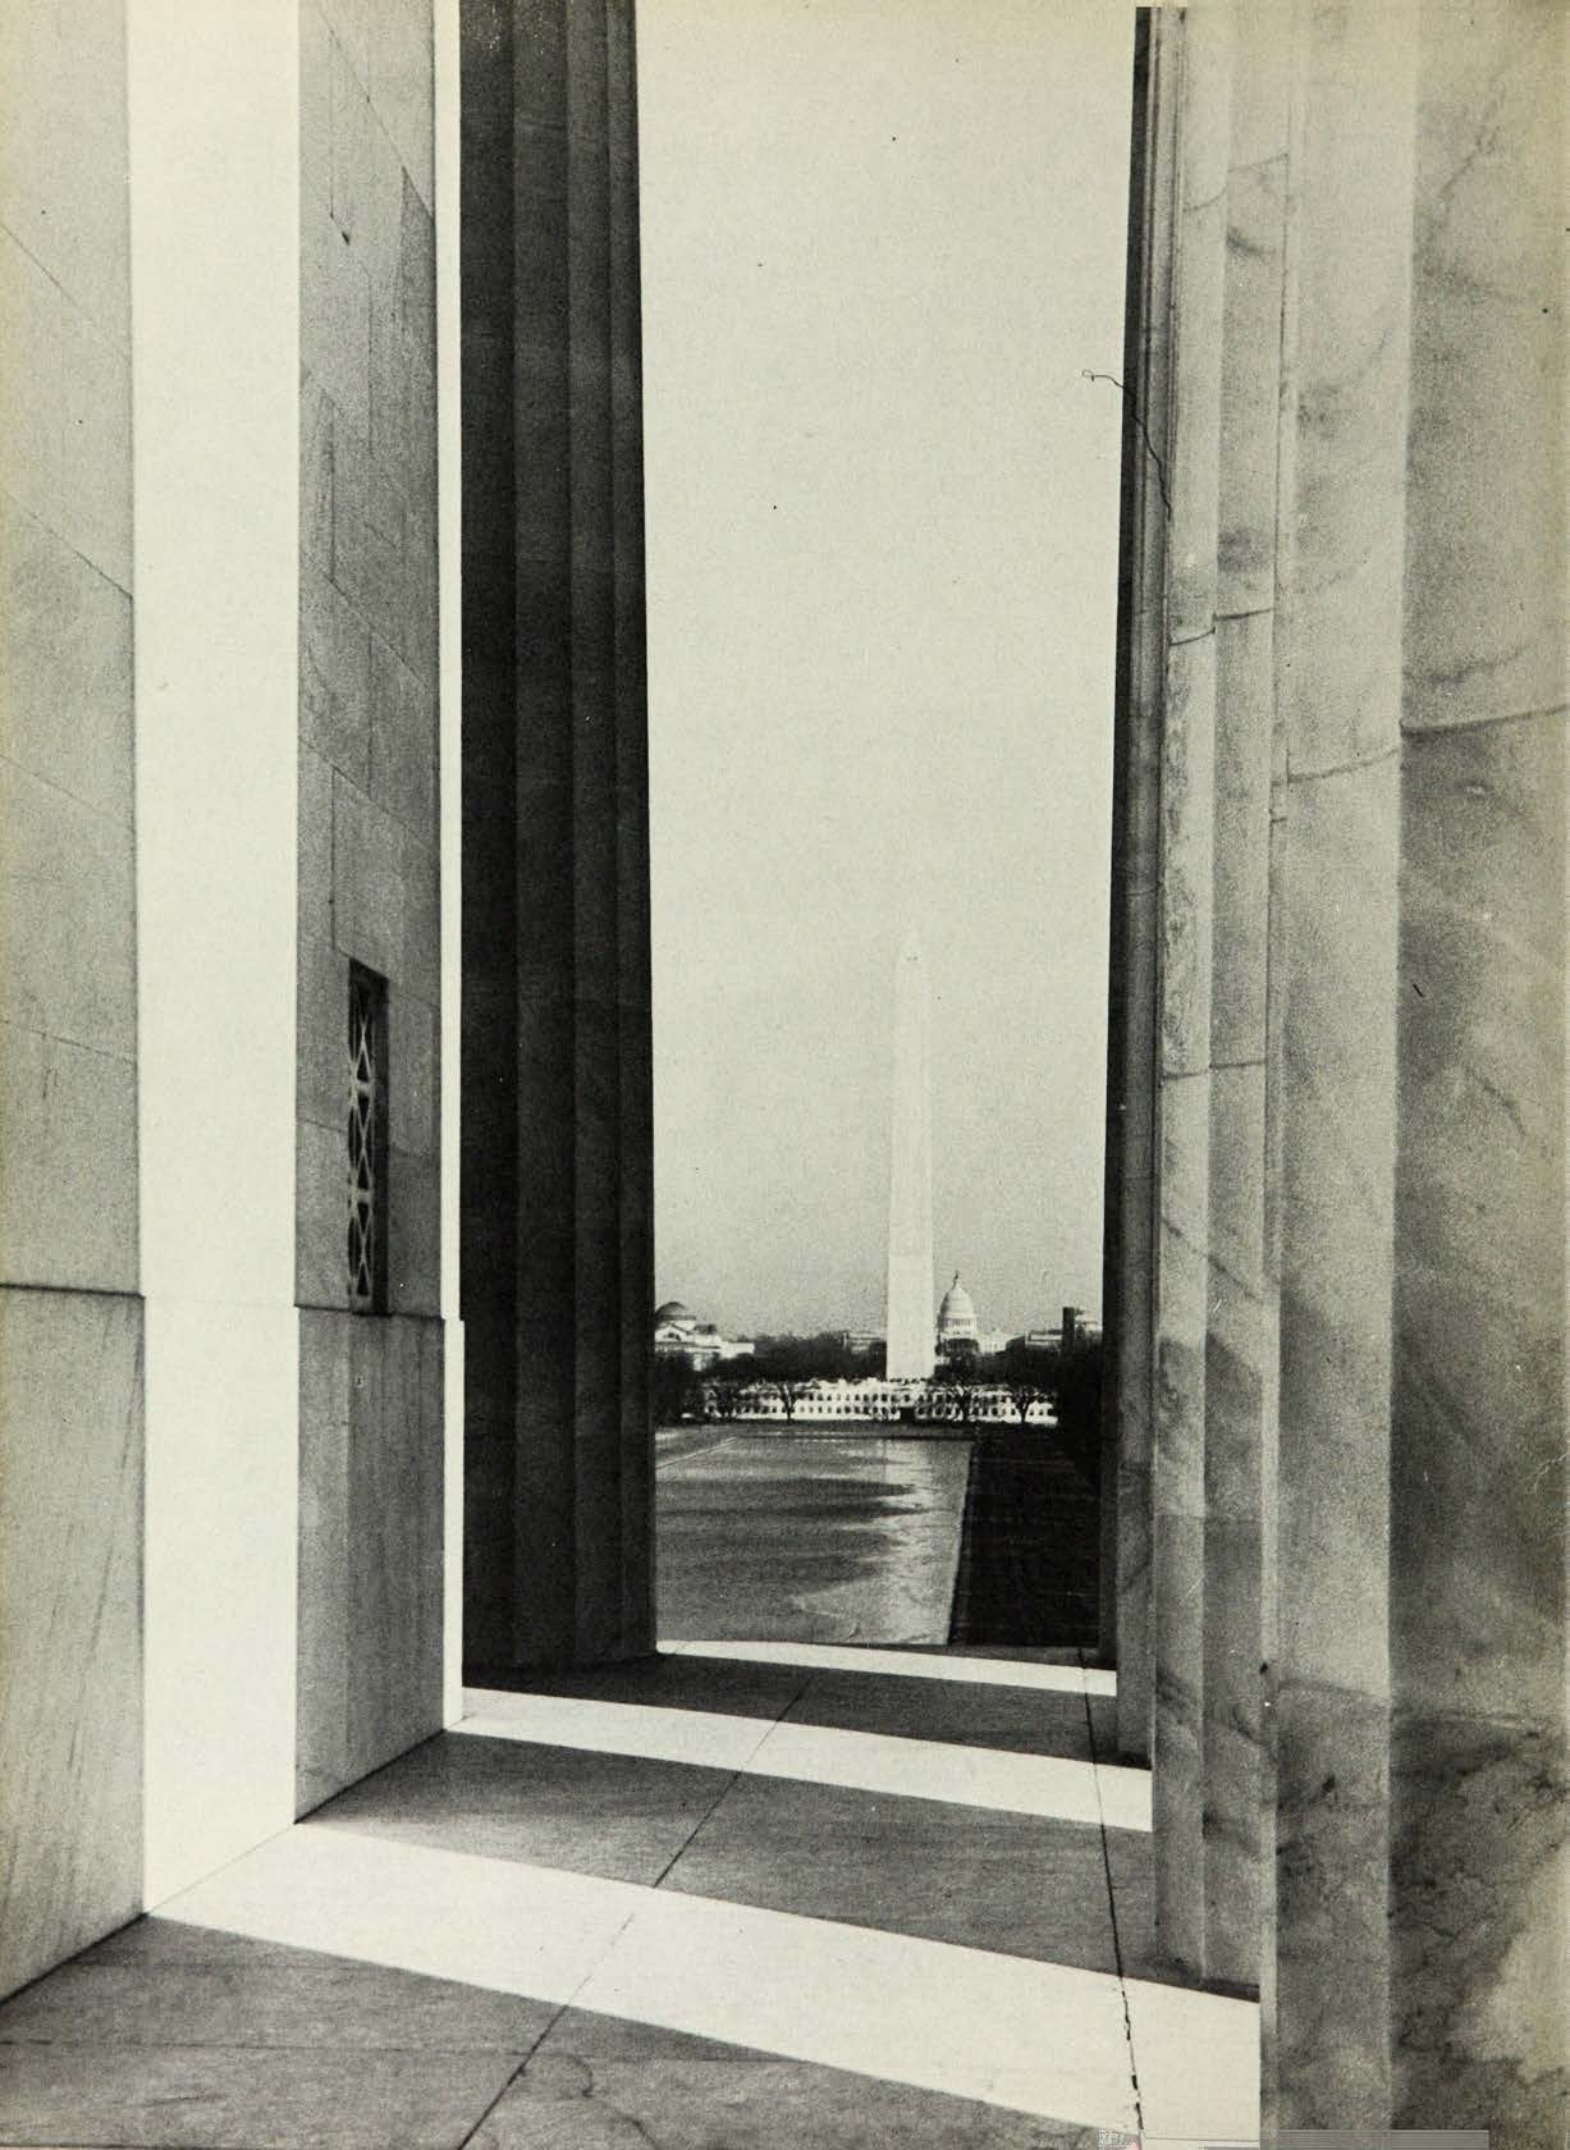

The night of the Sing was a happy one for the Thetas . . . not only did they walk off with third place in the Sing, but the Pledge Scholarship Cup and Inter-Sorority Athletic Trophy, too . . . Spring brought the Thetas an Apple Blossom Princess and Vice-President of the Senior Class and of Panhel Secretary of Delphi . . . Fourteen lovely pledges honored at the Pledge Formal held at Watergate Inn . . . a gay Christmas Open House climaxed the Fall season.

Theta's pledges take over Watergate Inn . . .

Punchin' conversation . . .
